Aurora Editor Announces New Staff Members

Editing and Business Work Will Start Immediately

With a meeting of staff designed to start work on the 1940 Aurora with an unprecedented zeal, Elsin Goodrich, new Aurora head, presented plans Tuesday afternoon for the new yearbook and announced the selection of students to fill various department heads. Miss Goodrich outlined the year's work, stressing the importance of full cooperation, and told members that work was already from six to eight weeks ahead of last year's schedule.

Creating two new positions on the staff, those of assistant editor and faculty editor, Miss Goodrich made known the long awaited list of new appointments. Martha Walsh, was selected to act as assistant editor. To Bill Sosinski, former editor of the News, goes the faculty editorship. Sylvia Zeve is to be student administration editor, with Ruth Verkler as editor of features.

Continuing his successful photography work of last year, Bob Hartwig holds the position of staff photographer, and chosen from the art department to be art co-editors are Eleanor Griggs and Helen Ruth Mann. Enlisted for activities editor is Raymond Palmer, and the class editorships go to Donald Marshall, Helen Holleran, Ray Gleason and Phyllis Griggs of the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman classes respectively.

Marion Sark will handle women's athletics, and the same position for men's athletics is held by Ted Brietart. Richard Bailey will be fraternity editor, Alice Boelens, stenographer, and Mary Harrington, copy editor. The position of sorority editor is still open, and as it can be occupied only by a sorority girl, applications are encouraged.

Albert Riddering, the new business manager, presented a staff of six members, saying he had yet to appoint an assistant manager. Members of his staff are Dennis Lund, Robert Hupy, Arthur Wall, Wilfred Sweet, Arnold Brandt, and Robert LaRue.

Speech Leaders Plan Activities At State Meeting

State-wide speech activities started with the annual convention of the Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League on the State College campus in East Lansing last Friday. Representatives from Albion, Alma, Calvin, Central State, Hillsdale, Hope, Kalamazoo, Michigan State, Wayne, Western State and Michigan State Normal contributed suggestions and formed plans which will affect all state and campus speech activities for the coming year.

Dr. Frederick B. McKay and Professor Harry T. Wood, accompanied by Miss Ruth Huber, newly elected president of Pi Kappa Delta, and Miss June Perryman, women's vice-president, represented Michigan State Normal College. Most important in its effect upon campus speakers, was the decision to hold the annual women's debate tournament on the Ypsilanti campus on February 17, when women debaters from all parts of the state will convene here for the final rounds of the season to determine the winning teams of the year. The men's final tournament will be held at Michigan State College a week earlier on February 10th.

The question for the season is considered very timely, being vitally concerned with the attitude of the United States toward the European crisis.

Miss Vandenberg To Talk On Europe

First hand information regarding the European crisis will be offered the students of Michigan Normal when Miss Betty Vandenberg will speak at the first Faculty Chat next Monday at 4 P. M. in the alumni lounge of McKenny Hall.

Miss Vandenberg spent the summer in Europe attending school and the events which have taken place in that vicinity during the past few months should furnish a very entertaining and worth while program.

Dorothy St. Peter is in charge of the Faculty Chats for this year. She has chosen to serve on the committee for Monday's program. Carol Goff and Robert Jensen. Carol has arranged posters which will keep students informed as to the time and nature of these informal meetings held every two weeks during the year.

The second All-College dance of the semester will be held at McKenny Hall Friday night according to an announcement from the social committee.

A different band every week is the objective of the committee in trying to arrange for suitable music for the weekly dances. Last week's dance was a tremendous success if the number of people present was any indication of success.

The social committee has reported that the band engaged for this week is an eleven piece band who have a number of clever and original arrangements.

Rackham School Of Special Ed. Is Ultra-Modern

Students Resume Studies In Entirely New Surroundings

When students in special education resumed their studies this fall, they returned to the new quarter of a million dollar Rackham School of Special Education rather than the former quarters in Welch Hall. The building, made possible through a grant from the Rackham fund, was opened for use for the first time. An open house was held during the summer session and visitors were guided through the building.

The building has been specially designed for the type of work which is to be carried on there. Designed by the architect Ralph Gerganoff, it is built along Swedish-Modern lines.

There are open air rooms designed to provide the utmost of comfort and improvement for students of lower vitality and those for whom rest and fresh air are of prime importance. Adjoining each room is a smaller room for student teachers and instructors. Sight-saving rooms have green blackboards, yellow chalk, exceptionally fine lighting. Equally as well-equipped is the room for teaching deaf students and those who are hard of hearing. Special apparatus line the wall and a glass sound-proof window for the teaching of lip reading are to be noted among the unusual aspects of the room. Another room in the hard of hearing division is constructed so as to be absolutely sound-proof. The purpose of this room is to test hearing.

One end of the building on the main floor is almost entirely occupied by a dormitory which is intended to care for twenty-five patients, four student teachers, and a trained nurse who will be in charge 24 hours a day. The dormitory has a reception room, a suite for the matron, rooms for the boys in one wing, and one for the girls in the other. There will be three patients in each room.

Following Tuesday's assembly programs, each class will hold a meeting to appoint committees for homecoming activities. The present junior class has won the float trophy twice, having taken first prize as freshmen and repeating as sophomores.

Sophomores Plan Fall Activities

Committees Appointed For Mixer, Homecoming

John Shoemaker, sophomore president, appointed with class approval at the class meeting in Welch Hall at 11:30, Tuesday, heads of committees for the homecoming float, sophomore mixer, and the semester social committee. Because the gathering consisted of only 40 members, 10 of whom were women, it was considered suitable to delay election of representatives to the Union executive board until the special men's meeting held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Heads of the social committee are Barney Dyer and Shirley Graham, who are to choose their committee members from the class. Under the same understanding John Kenfield and Barbara Neary are co-chairmen of the homecoming float committee, with Orlo Robinson and Margaret Hoover working on the soph mixer to take place October 25. Shoemaker announced need of a publicity committee but no action was taken other than a general nod in the direction of Paul Bartley.

Noted Symphony On All-College Assembly Program

Kryl Orchestra Makes Third Appearance On Campus

Appearing on the Michigan State Normal College campus for the third time, Bohumir Kryl and his 42-piece symphony orchestra played for an hour and a half before the all-college assembly Tuesday, October 3 in Pease auditorium.

In addition to the symphony arrangements, three soloists appeared with the group. They were Irene Walthers, soprano, Richard Kloko, tenor, and Florian Zabach, violinist.

The program was divided into two sections with an intermission provided for the exit of those students who were unable to remain through the entertainment.

The overture to the opera "Mignon" opened the program and was followed by an aria from "Rigoletto" in which Mr. Kloko sang "La Donna e Mobile". "The Beautiful Blue Danube Waltz" was the next number and it preceded another solo, this time by the violinist Florian Zabach, who played "Romance for violin in F major" by Beethoven. Schubert's "Symphony No. 8 in B Minor" concluded the first section of the program.

Following the intermission, Smetana's symphonic poem, "The Moldau" was played. Then Miss Walthers sang "Parla" by Ardit. The remainder of the program included "Moment Musical", Schubert; "Flight of the Bumble Bee," Rimsky-Korsakow; "Country Gardens," Granger; a duet for soprano and tenor from Mozart's opera, "Don Giovanni"; and the prelude to the opera "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" by Wagner.

Policy governing communications submitted for publication in these columns:

In general such communications should be of a constructive nature and should represent a sincere and well considered opinion. Each must be signed by the writer. Personal controversies are clearly out of place. The College has a number of Student and Faculty committees and administrative officers ready to attend to appropriate items and suggestions submitted to them. Obviously matters should be submitted to them directly to insure prompt consideration. Such procedure makes for efficiency and cooperation.

An Open Mind

"I want my son to go to a school where they teach all forms of government. I want him to know all there is about Communism, Facism, and Socialism, as well as representative forms of government. I want him to know all the good and bad points of all these theories of government, as they have been worked out in actual practice in the past and in the present."

Thus Alf M. Landon, ex-presidential aspirant, expresses his confidence in the preservation of democratic forms of government. His confidence in such governments is like that of so many great statesmen who have helped to build our country.

Democracy would not be worth while if it could not withstand the assaults of contrary opinions. If a form of government has lasted for centuries and has withstood all new movements, adopting those measures of progressive nature, it should be a government which not only pleases a majority but one that ultimately may please everyone.

It is particularly gratifying to hear men of conservative beliefs as Landon express such an open-minded desire. Such men cannot really be confined to a political party; for beliefs of that nature are democratic.

THEFT OF POTS IRKS FROSH

Members of the freshman class are voicing objections to the theft of their pots by sophomores. The spokesman for the group said that the frosh do not mind buying one cap but 50 cents is too large a sum to be spending more than once to please unappreciative sophomores.

Latin Literature

A new course is being offered this semester by the Latin department which enables non-specializing students to acquaint themselves with Latin literature through a study of it in English. English translations of outstanding works of Latin writers are to be studied as well as a history of the development of the literature.

The trend in recent years has been to assail the study of Latin and label it as time wasted. Perhaps the reason for most of this criticism lies in a D or an E that the foe of the language received in his earlier studies. However, whether or not there is any value in the study of the language it should be admitted that much value lies in the study of the literature.

Latin literature still ranks among the best. Real literary geniuses produced works that should be a part of any well-read man's reading list. The psychology, the philosophy, the style, the rhetoric, and the prevailing sense of humor in the Latin literature are only a few of the intellectual gains that one may experience in the study.

Since this a utilitarian age, a utilitarian reason should be advanced for such a study. History students of the Roman period can get no more vivid a picture of Rome than through a study of its literature. History tells what happened. Literature expresses the reaction and the feelings of the people of the time. English students should find such a course indispensable. So much of English literature is drawn from Latin sources that a student is handicapped without some knowledge of Latin literature.

A worthy companion to this course would be a study of Greek literature in English for the following semester.

Note: The writer is taking the course but could get an A easily without the above utterance.

Runners Appear In Shape In Spite Of Denial

Michigan Normal's cross-country team is scheduled to swing into action against Wayne University Friday afternoon over the short course here.

Although the coach has reported that his men have had insufficient time to work out in training for this meet and are now in poor condition, it must be allowed that coaches are likely to be prejudiced in such state matters; so additional inquiries were made. It was discovered that Tom Quinn is in excellent shape after a summer of competition in track meets in the East. Bob Lee has been training for over a month; and since other members of the team seem to be able to keep up with those who admit

Boxing Champ Returns With Desire For Peace

Trackmen Place In National Test

Morningstar and Squires Win Second, Third

For the third consecutive year Michigan Normal athletes have either won or placed in the all around athletic championship open only to members of the Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity.

Last year's all around champion, Hamilton Morningstar, was forced into runner up position this year by E. Woodcock of Oregon State College. Close behind Morningstar in third place was John Squires, another Huron. Besides placing in the all around, Squires won the football punt event with a boot of sixty nine yards. Alfonso Gavrilavicz was the other who won the title, in 1937.

Both Morningstar and Squires are local boys, both are seniors on physical education majors, both are varsity track men and both high jump along with other events during the regular track season. Their medals are on display at the Union desk.

The championship, consisting of twelve events, demands that a person possess all around abilities in nearly all phases of sports, as is illustrated by the results of the two Huron place winners.

Events	Morningstar	Squires
16 lb shot put	34' 2"	33' 9 3/4"
Javelin	142' 10"	145' 8"
High Jump	5' 11 1/2"	5' 9"
Broad Jump	20' 4"	19' 5"
100 yard Dash	11 sec.	11 sec.
120 yd L Hurdles	14.4 sec	15.1 sec
Baseball Throw	279 ft.	302 ft.
100 yd Swim	64.5 sec.	70 sec.
Mile Run	5:11.6	5:25
Rope Climb	6.8 sec.	7.4 sec.

Football Punt	179 ft.	207 ft.

The local chapter of Sigma Delta Psi, of which George Marshall is the patron, has five members. Harold Fried, Marlen Reber, John Squires, Russell High, and Hamilton Morningstar. Tests will be given this fall on the field as long as the weather permits. Any student interested in becoming a member see Hamilton Morningstar any evening between four and six o'clock.

Coaches Expect To Meet Stiff Opposition In First Game

Michigan Normal opens its football campaign Saturday with Illinois Normal University at Normal, Illinois. Last year the Hurons came from behind in the waning minutes to eke out a victory over the Illinois team. Siera, who scored all the points for Normal, went for the winning tally on a fifteen yard dash.

Coaches Rynearson and Stites are taking a squad of 24 players on the road anticipating a close game for their team, composed of a green line and a veteran backfield. After a week of intensive scrimmage, Rynie has not as yet decided upon a regular line up. A hot battle is being waged for the tackle, end, and center positions, with the next few days determining the men getting the starting assignments. Enthused by the splendid spirit of the team the coaches have confidence that the team will give a good account of itself against keener competition than last season, when the Hurons received high honors in state football circles, losing one game by a one point margin, to Central State, in an eight game schedule.

Although not yet fully coordinated in its timing in carrying out blocking assignments, the forward wall shows potentialities of greater strength than last year. The line makes up in speed and aggressiveness what it lacks in weight.

A veteran backfield strengthened by the return of Joe Borovich and Jack Foster, will take the field. Strictly a fast and deceptive offensive set of backs, they will rely on speed and wizardry to gain ground. In a wingback formation such as Normal uses, timing and clever spinning on the part of the quarterback play a very important part.

Two sets of backfields will probably be used alternately, one including Valleau, Siera, Walsh and Yeager, the other made up of Lieder, Foster, Borovich, and Gillis or Hutchins.

The end positions will include George Newlands, a letter winner, Joe Grady, Ed Bush, Bly Corning, Tom Herlihy, and Art Lemanske; at guard, Captain Joe Pokrywka, the only returning regular lineman, Dave Gates, Art Mashke, Ed Poly, Harold Fried, Paul Chamberlain, and Sid Drucker; at center, Dick Manning, Lynn Wheeler and Russell Shaffer. The backfield will be chosen from Siera, Yeager, Borovich, Hutchins, and Gillis at halfback; Yuille and Foster at fullback; Valleau, Walsh, and Lieder at quarterback.

Prospective members are allowed to pledge the fraternity of their choice at the end of the twelfth week. However, the pledge cannot become a member until the first week of the second semester. This is in keeping with the administration's policy of requiring a 'C' average of all students desirous of becoming fraternity members.

Max Reynolds, president of the council, also announces the first formal dance of the year.
